JACKSON LEAVES DEMOCRATIC JOB; FARLEY ACCUSED

New Hampshire Man Reveals Retirement From National Committee Shortly After President Scores "Influence" Use.

JACKSON FOLLOWS KREMER EXAMPLE

Republicans Demand Air Mail Investigation Include Present Regime, Citing Farley Air Trip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The resignation of the second of three democratic national committeemen who have established law offices in the national capital was announced today, coincidentally with a vigorous expression by President Roosevelt against law practice in Washington by members of the committee.

The resignation announced today was that of Robert Jackson, of New Hampshire. On January 5, the national committee made public the resignation of J. Bruce Kremer, of Montana, the oldest member of the committee in point of service.

Mullen Remains. Of the three, there remains Arthur F. Mullen, of Nebraska. Jackson was secretary of the national committee, a post which he said he accepted when "asked personally by President Roosevelt" to do so at "a critical point of his campaign."

The director of the president's campaign was brought into the encircling developments of the day, also. On Capitol Hill, republican members of a senate committee announced they would push for an inquiry into the circumstances of a flight James A. Farley, the national chairman and postmaster-general, took from Washington last fall in a plane said by Senator Austin, republican, Vermont, to be owned by a company interested in air mail contracts.

Want Probe Widened. The senatorial committee, of which Austin is a member, is investigating air mail contracts. The investigation has touched several times on persons prominent in recent republican national administration. The republican minority members of the committee said they would endeavor to turn the inquiry into the period covered by the new democratic administration.

Jackson said he resigned some time ago and that he desired to take that action.

"I have," he said, "taken no part whatsoever in the distribution of patronage. I have declined to represent any client who has had matters that would conflict in any way with the administration's program. I found

CONLEY CONVICTED IN LARCENY CASE; IS GIVEN 23 YEARS

Vice President of Defunct Loan Company Guilty on Five Counts. New Trial To Be Sought.

Found guilty of larceny after trial and violating the state corporate securities act, G. C. Conley, vice president of the defunct Bankers' Savings and Loan Company, Wednesday was sentenced by Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, to serve 23 years. A motion seeking a new trial will be filed, according to Francis Pife, attorney for Conley.

Trial of E. N. Clough, president of the defunct institution, is scheduled to start January 29 under the joint indictments, having obtained a severance.

Conley's punishment was fixed by the jury at five years on each of three larceny after trust bills, and four years on each of two indictments charging violation of the corporate securities act.

Assistant Solicitor-General J. Walter LeCraw said that Conley is wanted in Oklahoma City under the alias of R. D. Ingram on charges of embezzlement, and that a "hold" order has been given to Sheriff Lowry. Conley disappeared before the crash of the loan company, and was captured in Houston, Ga.

Charges against Conley involve alleged misappropriation of $3,302 entrusted to him for investment. Charges of violating the securities act were based on sales of stock of the loan company without a license after a state license had been refused.

COUNCIL IS CALLED TO RATIFY ACTION ON BIG SEWER JOB

Meeting Set for Friday; Approval of Resolution Will Permit Start Next Monday on 5 Projects.

SEWER AGREEMENT PLEASING TO HOPKINS

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17.—Harry L. Hopkins, director of CWA, stated today that he has been advised that a definite agreement has been reached between Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia CWA administrator, and Fulton and DeKalb counties with reference to sewer projects in Fulton and DeKalb counties.

He expressed pleasure at the information, and asserted that just as soon as the agreement, already reached, is confirmed by the mayor and council of Atlanta and the mayor and council of Fulton and DeKalb, work can be begun immediately.

Mayor James L. Key Wednesday called council into special session at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon to ratify a resolution designed to start work Monday on $1,018,000 worth of sewer improvements for metropolitan Atlanta and Fulton and DeKalb county authorities laid plans to sign the agreement jointly.

Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia CWA administrator, late Wednesday advised Key and other local governmental authorities that the resolution sent to her would be acceptable, and Harry L. Hopkins, federal CWA administrator, Washington, sent a telegram to Key in which he also ratified the proposed joint agreement.

Passage of the resolution by the governing bodies was regarded as the only obstacle in the way of immediate start on the five projects. William A. Hansell, assistant chief of construction of Atlanta, in charge of sewer projects, said he was in the ground the moment the resolution is passed and CWA is ready to proceed.

Longino to Call Board. George F. Longino, chairman of the Fulton county commission, announced he will call a meeting of the board immediately and Charles A. Matthews, DeKalb county commissioner, would affix his signature to the measure today.

Text of Hopkins' telegram to Key follows: "Relative your telegram concerning Atlanta sewers. Understand definite agreement on proposal ready for approval Atlanta council today."

Matthews suggested that the local government begin at once construction of definite plans for construction of disposal units. The resolution recites that the governments will do so at the earliest possible moment and further stipulates that plans will be filed with the Georgia CWA.

Ratification Acceptable. A copy of the resolution was dispatched to Miss Shepperson late Tuesday after a conference between Key, Longino, Matthews and Aldermen Frank H. Reynolds and Ed A. Gilman, chairman, respectively of council, sewer and finance committees. She notified Key Wednesday that its ratification would be acceptable and it was that agreement to which Hopkins referred in his message to Key.

The overwhelming sentiment in council and in other local governing bodies for sewer improvements will, it is believed, assert itself and will pave the way for actual start of work on the projects by Monday.

Sewer improvements are regarded as the most urgent in a long list of projected public works for the Atlanta area. Several suits have been filed against Atlanta and Decatur and are still pending, seeking to abate nuisances caused by dumping of untreated sewage into streams in the vicinity.

The Fulton County Medical Society, the state board of health, and city and county health officials have warned that immediate relief is mandatory to avert the strong possibility of disastrous epidemics.

Four Commissioners To Go on Trial Today

Trial of four members of the board of county commissioners and one former member on charges of felony will begin at 9 o'clock this morning before Judge R. N. Hardeman, visiting judge, in Fulton superior court. George F. Longino, Walter C. Hendrix, Paul S. Etheridge and Dr. W. L. Gilbert, members of the present commission, and Walter B. Stewart, former member, were indicted by the March grand jury on felony charges for having expended $1,008 in county funds for entertaining visiting delegates to the Georgia Association of County Commissioners.

The defendants will be represented by attorneys Reuben Arnold, Robert P. Jones and Clem Powers.

Atlanta Supplants St. Louis As U. S. Mule-Trading Leader

Turnover Here Nearly 40,000 in 1933, Against 35,000 for Missouri City; Business Better Than in 15 Years, Say Leaders.

Atlanta's mart of the "gees" and "haws," responding to the influence of better times on the farm, had snatched first place in mule trading from the time-honored leader, St. Louis, and the end is not in sight yet, local commission men said on Wednesday as advices from St. Louis placed that market's 1933 mule turnover at 35,000 as compared with the 38,000 to 40,000 sold here last year.

As J. Patterson, of the J. W. Patterson Commission Company, said that the number of mules handled daily at the Atlanta auction barns is greater than at any time since the World War brought a booming market, although prices do not now range as high.

"St. Louis has long been recognized as the leading mule market, but Atlanta's business of the last year unquestionably gives this city the palm," Patterson said. "Atlanta had the lead for a brief time, about the period of the World War, but now it appears that the lead has come here permanently. Dealers and buyers are realizing that they can find more mules here for a better selection and save themselves the long trip to St. Louis."

Kansas City and Memphis, also large mule markets, are about tied for third place, Patterson said. "But there is no question that the Atlanta market is now the liveliest in the country. A man who visited the St. Louis market often was in at our auction the other day, and he told me that the Atlanta trading is much better than that in St. Louis."

Gus Weill, of Ragdale, Lawhon & Weill, said that "the market is strong and mules are advancing. Atlanta's leadership of the mule trading today is due to the fact that this city is a better distributing point for the south, and the buyers are recognizing that fact. The market was good last year, and is even better now. There were between 3,500 and 4,000 mules sold on the Atlanta market this week."

Weill estimated the local turnover for 1933 at "more than 40,000." The average price of a mule on the local market is $125, with the top-notch price around $235.

Recall Is Sought In Decatur Fight

Petitions Will Seek Ouster of Two Commissioners for Firing Weaver.

Recall of George W. Woods and R. C. Henderson as members of the Decatur city commission because they "fired" and refused to reinstate W. H. Weaver, city engineer for 13 years, will be sought, it was learned on Wednesday, as recall petitions were ordered printed.

The petitions were being printed Wednesday night and distribution for signatures will get under way immediately, 600 names of voters being necessary on the petitions before a recall election can be called.

The name of J. C. Johnson, new mayor of Decatur whose election to the city commission upset the balance of power which had kept Scott Candler in office as mayor for a number of years, will not appear on the petition, as a city official cannot be recalled until he has served six months, it was said.

Decision to seek a recall election was reached after the city commission Tuesday night by a vote of three to two sustained its position in discharging Weaver. Weaver had appeared for a full hearing of his case, and was represented at the Tuesday night by William Schley Howard, attorney. Weaver contended that his record as city engineer was unblemished and that his employment should be continued.

News of the recall petition Wednesday was followed by an influx of citizens seeking to register at the city hall, it was said. Decatur buzzed with talk of the political developments during the day, and many heated discussions were heard.

Commissioners Candler and Homer George constitute the minority division of the commission.

In the event enough signatures are obtained for a recall election, a majority vote of a third of the registered voters will be necessary to carry the election, it was said. There are 2,600 on the list.

License Liquor Law Is Voted for Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A new liquor law for the national capital, based upon the private license system, was approved by the senate today with only two hours of debate.

Accepting a house bill to permit sale of liquor under the license system, it rejected without a record vote a substitute proposing the dispensary system.

This was asked by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, who said the license system would permit return of the saloon and all its old evils.

CUMMINGS RULES SEIZURE OF GOLD IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Glass Obtains Revision of Roosevelt Provisions for Stabilization in Money Measure.

SURRENDER ORDER MODIFIED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau tonight authorized federal reserve banks, the treasurer of the United States, mints and assay offices to continue "until further notice" to receive gold coins and gold certificates and pay for them in other currency at their face value.

The new order modifies the previous order setting midnight of tonight as the deadline for turning gold into the treasury.

Gold hoarding penalties, however, were not lifted if in the opinion of the secretary of the treasury the gold paid in had been hoarded.

By RICHARD L. TURNER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Attorney-General Cummings emphatically upheld the constitutionality of giving the government title to the federal reserve's gold in an opinion delivered personally to the senate banking committee tonight, but Senator Glass, of Virginia, who had challenged this phase of the Roosevelt monetary program, remained unconvinced.

"The monetary gold stock may be taken by the government in the exercise of its right of eminent domain," said Cummings. "Such power extends to every form of property required for public use."

Eugene Black, governor of the federal reserve board, appeared at the hearing held in executive session. Later Glass quoted Black as saying he believed the government should take the "so-called profit" on the gold but that the gold itself should be left in the reserve banks.

Black told reporters tonight he would issue a statement tomorrow explaining his position.

Meanwhile the gold stock is one phase of the legislative program requested of congress by the president, under which he asked also for approval of a minimum 40 per cent devaluation of the dollar and the establishment of a $2,000,000,000 fund with which to stabilize the foreign exchange value of the dollar.

Meanwhile the measure had the approval of one house committee, but not to which it was referred. The latter, the coinage committee, arranged to put everything else aside to consider the measure.

Conservative democratic opponents of the Roosevelt monetary legislation today gained a revision of the administration bill that was designed to guard against a treasury invasion of the private banking field.

At the insistence of Senator Glass, of Virginia, the wide variety of commercial paper in which the measure would have authorized the treasury to deal, using the proposed $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, was limited to such items as might be necessary to stabilize the foreign exchange value of the dollar.

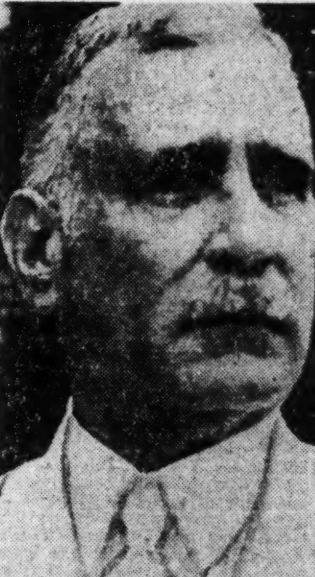

Changed by Fletcher. Chairman Fletcher, of the senate banking committee, introduced the bill at the outset of the day's session after making the stabilization fund changes.

Governor Black, of the federal reserve board, and Adolph Miller, a board member, headed the short list of witnesses summoned to give their views on the bill after Cummings testified.

In the house, where the banking and coinage committees have been dis-

COMPULSION ISSUE FORCED TO FRONT IN FARM PROGRAM

Approval of Cotton Gin Licensing Hastens Showdown; Smith Assails Cotton Crop Reports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A swirl of capital farm developments today brought the time nearer for the farm administration to state its views on the move to regulate production by compulsion.

Those who believe a measure of compulsion necessary for the success of reduction campaigns affecting millions of acres find their views reflected in the Bankhead bill to regulate cotton production through federal licenses for gins. In this way restrictions would be placed on the number of bales that might be ginned.

Approval of the Bankhead measure by the senate agriculture committee was virtually assured today when Chairman Smith announced that he would support it as an "emergency measure."

Wallace to Appear. Secretary Wallace is to appear before the committee Saturday to testify regarding the Bankhead bill which he went over in a conference last Sunday with its author, Senator Bankhead, democrat, Alabama.

At that time, the secretary laid down the general premises that he would disapprove compulsion by the government unless he was certain a majority of the farmers involved would welcome it.

He is expected to reiterate his attitude Saturday but whether he will go beyond generalities is a question. Neither the general premises that he would welcome the Bankhead bill is another question. Much would depend upon its final form—if it passes—and whether its power is permissive, or mandatory.

The secretary is loath to abandon the idea of voluntary co-operation by the farmers, feeling federal compulsion without popular support would be futile.

Farmers Favor Force. But on the other hand, the farm administration has taken into account the apparently growing sentiment among farmers, who want to co-operate, that a minority should not be allowed to threaten a reduction program. Wallace also feels that an increasing measure of farm regimentation may be imperative unless markets abroad are reopened.

A step to force co-operation with

5TH GOVERNMENT WITHIN 5 MONTHS NAMED AT HAVANA

Batista Warns He Will Tolerate No Interference With Commerce or Government Through Walk-out by Enemies.

GOVERNMENT POSTS GIVEN TO 3 AIDES

Colonel Sets 8 A. M. Today as Deadline for Workers' Return on Penalty of Dismissal.

HAVANA, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Carlos Mendieta, 60-year-old veteran of nearly four decades of political battling, tonight was offered and accepted the presidency of Cuba.

He will head the fifth government Cuba has had in a little more than five months, taking over office from the youth Carlos Hevia under outward conditions of the utmost possible confusion.

A general strike was still impending and military conditions appeared unsettled, but Mendieta's supporters assured him of united backing of the army and navy and of the strongest political factions.

Hevia's rule was as short as it was uncertain. Only last Monday he maneuvered himself into the presidency when it appeared that Mendieta was sure of the office.

The actual transfer of office was scheduled at noon tomorrow. Marquez Sterling, Mexican charge d'affaires and an intermediary, said he believed Hevia would tender his resignation without protest.

"The original directing body of the A. B. C. society visited Mendieta shortly after 9 o'clock and assured him of support, issuing a call to all Cubans to observe January 21 as 'Mendieta Day,' and to display the Cuban flag together with a white flag signifying the end of internal warfare."

Observers considered the navy's pledge of support most significant of all, inasmuch as in the last few days the army and navy have been split wide apart, with former Minister of War Antonio Guiteras controlling the navy and Colonel Fulgencio Batista the army.

The Mendieta selection was an important victory for Batista, who refused to stay down after Guiteras had outmaneuvered him Monday to help place Hevia in the presidency.

The executive committee of Mendieta's national union called an emergency meeting tonight and started to study the problems facing the new president.

Mendieta's home was besieged by well-wishers who were jeered, shouting congratulations and slapping him on the back.

Later Rene Lufriu, private secretary to former President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, arrived and offered Mendieta the support of his chief, together with his esteem.

Facing a crisis because of a general strike which forced his resignation, Colonel Batista seized the reins of power this afternoon and named three army lieutenants to head three governmental departments.

The dynamic commander, declaring that he would not permit the A. B. C. secret society, followers of Dr. Antonio Guiteras, and other groups, to prevent a "united front" to interrupt "the normal course of commerce, industry and the government," prepared to name other army officers to government posts.

Called at Noon. The strike, called at noon today, involved communication systems, postal employees, workers in the departments of state, justice, agriculture, the interior, and others, and was invoked when Colonel Batista defiantly refused to step out.

Railroad workers, street car and bus operators, and employees of light plants and waterworks voted to join the walkout at 6 p. m. today.

Colonel Batista had set 8 a. m.

Nazi Gets 7 Months For Beating American

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A sentence of seven months in jail today was given a Nazi storm trooper named Friedel, convicted of beating Max Schussler, a Jew, who formerly lived in New York.

Schussler's treatment was protested yesterday by Raymond Geist, United States consul, to the Prussian secret police.

Geist said that in his opinion the sentence should be regarded as a satisfactory disposal of the incident.

Athens, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Almost on the eve of the state council's hearing on his appeal against government orders to leave Greece, Secretary Insull took to his bed today, on a doctor's orders, because of a weak heart.

The condition of the former middle western utilities operator was described by his physician, Dr. Voilas, as such that he could not be moved except by the council's decision Friday is against him.

Dr. Voilas revealed that the erstwhile financier, whose extradition the United States has sought twice in vain to face embezzlement charges in connection with the collapse of the utilities system, went to bed "at my orders because he is already suffering from a weak heart, which was greatly aggravated on account of recent shocks."

"In my opinion," the physician added, "he is unable to travel and thus comply with the government's order."

If requested, I am ready to issue a certificate to this effect.

Reviewing the Shows

Fine Stage Settings Produced at Atlanta

The remarkable success achieved at the Atlanta theater ever since the adoption of the burlesque policy at that house, continues this week, with capacity or near capacity audiences the rule at all performances.

The show this week is entitled "Scanties of 1934," and is remarkable for a number of strikingly attractive stage settings, as well as for its popular array of clever girls, snappy comedians and fast-stepping chorus.

There are at least three scenes which equal anything Atlanta has seen in stage settings, not excepting the show for which we used to pay as high as $3 a seat. These are the "Music" number and the "Gypsy" setting in the first act, and the "By a Waterfall" posing production in the second act.

Owing to the heavy demand for seats at the Atlanta it is advisable to make reservations in advance at the box office, which is open daily from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. There are two shows daily, at 2:30 and 8:30.

Gold Base Permanent, Harrison Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Senator Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, predicted tonight that "there never will be a time when gold will be the major basis which this government will issue currency."

The Mississippi democrat, who attended the Sunday night conference at the White House at which the decision to devalue the dollar was reached, said "We may add to the base, but gold will never be discarded as one of the bases of currency."

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 17.—(AP)—D. Davis, negro landlord for about 150 families, had always been considered fairly well to do by white persons who knew him through business dealings despite his protestations that taxes took all his money.

Davis died Monday. Probate officials and Davis heirs, seeking a safety deposit box key, opened an old safe in the negro's residence Tuesday.

Out slipped $73,875.82 in currency and Liberty bonds.

STATE CLAIM TO ADD 10,000 EMPLOYEES

New Total of 150,000 Workers Will Go on 15-Hour Week January 26.

Georgia's GWA workers will be put on a 15-hour week beginning January 26 and the number of workers increased from 80,000 to about 150,000, Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state administrator, announced Wednesday.

The state administrator emphasized that the revised program will not mean any additional funds for the state, but merely provide more jobs, each with less money for the workers.

It was estimated that instead of 80,000 persons drawing between $10 and $12.50 each week the state will have between 140,000 and 150,000 drawing from $5 to $6.25 a week and between 10,000 and 20,000 on 30-hour employment and continuing to draw their present wages.

A few scattered counties already are reported to have put the new plan into effect.

Announcement of the date for the put into general effect of the Hopkins "staggering" program was made by Miss Shepperson after an all-day conference with her assistants who will be in direct charge of the revision of the program.

The administrator said that in Fulton county the number of employees would be increased from 14,000 to between 24,000 and 26,000.

Better Business Is Reported By G.E. Executives in Atlanta

Tom Moore, manager of the southeastern division of the incandescent lamp department of General Electric, with E. E. Potter, eastern sales manager, and Freeman Barnes, sales promotion manager, who were Mr. Moore's guests in Atlanta Wednesday.

Better business the country over, especially in the south, was reported Wednesday by E. E. Potter, eastern sales manager of the incandescent lamp department of General Electric Co. He and Freeman Barnes, manager of sales promotion, were guests of Tom Moore, manager of the south-east division.

"I thought business was good when I was in Atlanta a year ago," Mr. Potter said, "but since then there has been a change for the better that was more than I expected. We have reports of improvement everywhere, especially in the Atlanta area and throughout the south."

Both executives reported that the company had seen fine progress in its "light, better, longer" slogan.

Briefly, this is its discovery, that today further indications of an understanding were given.

It was pointed out that another agency could be set up under public works to handle the housing program if it were decided that the housing corporation was illegal.

McCarl refused to approve warrants for housing corporation expenditures on the grounds that the powers conferred upon it "appear to contemplate operations beyond statutory authority."

McCarl's letter also said that there was a question whether the incorporation of the housing corporation under the laws of Delaware did not subject a government "agency and government property to state taxation."

He said, however, that the warrants for public housing expenditures would be "held pending further advice from you showing the legality of the course proposed or such alteration thereof as may be necessary."

OXONIANS DISCLAIM ALL RESPONSIBILITY IN OXFORD ACCENT
OXFORD, Eng., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The question "how much longer are we undergraduates to bear the blame for the Oxford accent?" was asked today in an editorial in the Isis, Oxford University undergraduate magazine.

"We have done nothing to deserve this insult," the editorial said, "our speech may be careless and probably is ungrammatical, but it is not tainted with the so-called Oxford accent. Let the purist call it the Park Lane drawl, the Balmoral bleat or any other name except that of Oxford."

"During the last few years all traces of snobbery have been removed from the university," the editorial continued. "No longer do undergraduates strive to live like gentlemen to the exclusion of other activities."

Sir Anthony Jenkinson, 21, holder of a baronetcy created in 1661, is editor of the magazine.

TWO TO BE HONORED BY WRITERS' GROUP
Mrs. Martha Lyman Shillito, of Birmingham, past president of the Alabama Writers' Conference and chairman of the speakers' bureau of the conference, and Dr. Thorne Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, will be guests of the Atlanta Writers' Club at the dinner at 7 o'clock to-night at the Woman's Club, Dr. W. F. Melton, president, announced.

Mrs. Bonita Crowe, chairman of musical songwriting, will present the peanut stand station of Steve Zaslavsky at the corner of the White House grounds.

Steve, who has sold peanuts at this stand for more than a quarter of a century, was ordered by police to move the other day after complaints that he was interfering with traffic at this busy corner.

Mrs. Roosevelt clipped the story from the newspaper and sent it to Stephen T. Early, a secretary of the president, with a written inquiry: "Must this man go?"

Mr. Early started investigation and suddenly discovered that President Roosevelt himself had already acted after reading the story.

A modern idea
".... building resistance while you're well instead of waiting until exposure affects you....."

It never used to occur to people to take precautions about their health in advance. They waited until they were miserable before trying to build up resistance.

Now many of these same people are trying to build up a reserve ahead to help carry them through this risky season.

If your resistance is low and you're bothered by exposure, why not begin to increase your physical forces a little every day? There's a pleasant, easy way you can do this. With Squibb Adex Tablets-10 D.

Squibb Adex tablets are a concentrate of the valuable factors in halibut and cod-liver oil with Viosterol. The only tablet made from all three of these rich vitamin sources, they have unusual protective qualities!

Each tablet contains 1500 units of resistance-building Vitamin A and 2450 units of sunshine Vitamin D. And the exclusive method of preparing Adex makes these important vitamin values available to you almost at once.

Begin with Squibb Adex tablets and take them regularly every day. You'll have a far more comfortable winter.

Now at any good drug store—Squibb Adex tablets. Made by E. R. Squibb & Sons, manufacturing chemists since 1853.

Teethina Better Than Ordinary Baby Laxatives
Teethina is more than a laxative. Aside from thoroughly, but gently evacuating baby's intestines, it purifies and sweetens the bowels; prevents food fermentation and stops decomposition of fecal matter in the entire intestinal tract. That is why Teethina gives such quick and remarkable relief in constipation, gas, indigestion, occasional diarrhoea and intestinal colic. Teethina contains no opiates and can be had at any drug store for only 30c.—(adv.)

SOLUTION IS SEEN IN SLUM IMPASSE

President Expects Deadlock To Be Broken Without New Laws.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A solution of legal difficulties over the housing corporation's $100,000,000 slum clearance program today appeared near as President Roosevelt told callers he thought the situation could be ironed out without additional legislation.

Secretary Ickes yesterday denounced a communication to him from Comptroller General McCarl in which the latter raised legal questions. Ickes said additional legislation might be necessary to take the housing program from McCarl's jurisdiction.

After talking to the president, however, the secretary said he felt things "would work out all right" and today further indications of an understanding were given.

It was pointed out that another agency could be set up under public works to handle the housing program if it were decided that the housing corporation was illegal.

McCarl refused to approve warrants for housing corporation expenditures on the grounds that the powers conferred upon it "appear to contemplate operations beyond statutory authority."

McCarl's letter also said that there was a question whether the incorporation of the housing corporation under the laws of Delaware did not subject a government "agency and government property to state taxation."

He said, however, that the warrants for public housing expenditures would be "held pending further advice from you showing the legality of the course proposed or such alteration thereof as may be necessary."

Suicide Shot Fails After Mother Kills 3
TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 17.—(AP)—A mother, seeking relief from her life's miseries, sent her three young children to death with three bullets here last night and then failed in an attempt to join them with a fourth bullet near her heart.

Mrs. A. P. Sanders, formerly of Oklahoma City, Okla., killed the children, Douglas, 7; Phyllis, 3, and Ray, eight months old, as they slept in her car parked at a lonely cross road in the country, 15 miles east of here. She then fired into her own body, but she did not die.

Ouster of Peanut Vendor Prevented by Roosevelt
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has saved the peanut stand station of Steve Zaslavsky at the corner of the White House grounds.

Steve, who has sold peanuts at this stand for more than a quarter of a century, was ordered by police to move the other day after complaints that he was interfering with traffic at this busy corner.

Mrs. Roosevelt clipped the story from the newspaper and sent it to Stephen T. Early, a secretary of the president, with a written inquiry: "Must this man go?"

Mrs. Straus, at 74, Plans African Jaunt

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—(AP)—At 74 Mrs. Oscar Straus, widow of the secretary of commerce during the Theodore Roosevelt administration and an aunt of the ambassador to France, Jesse Isidor Straus, today was looking forward to joining a Field museum expedition in West Africa.

The expedition, headed by Rudyard Kipling, assistant curator of birds at the museum, left for New York today by automobile and a supply truck preparatory to embarking for the ocean voyage.

Mrs. Straus, who is sponsoring the trip, said she would join the others early next month at Dakar, French Senegal and would accompany the party during two months of preliminary work and travel.

It will not be an exactly new adventure for her for in 1926 she financed and headed another expedition of the American museum to East Africa.

ICKES APPROVES HOMESTEAD PLAN NEAR BIRMINGHAM
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Plans for establishing a demonstration subsistence homestead project of 300 families at Birmingham, Ala., center of the south's steel and coal industry, were announced today by Secretary Ickes, public works administrator.

A loan of $750,000 to the Birmingham Homesteads, Inc., a local corporation, was authorized.

The Birmingham project will differ in two principal respects from other subsistence homesteads thus far approved. Instead of erecting the homesteads on one tract of land, the Birmingham units will be established on four tracts adjacent to the city and will become part of existing communities.

This project also will be the first to favor the "white collar" worker. Occupants of the homesteads will not engage in commercial agriculture, but will till from three to five acres each, affording them an opportunity to produce food for their own use to supplement incomes from part or full-time employment in industry.

FLORIDIAN CONVICTED IN POLICEMAN'S DEATH
SEBRING, Fla., Jan. 17.—(AP)—A jury today returned a verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy in the trial of Joseph E. Johnston, first-degree murder in the slaying of Policeman T. E. Nicholson at Lakeland in 1932.

Pimples over Face and Body for Almost Two Years. Healed by Cuticura.
"I was broken out with pimples all over my face and body for almost two years, and I was unable to sleep at night. The pimples were large and red and when they first came out they would itch, and scratching made them sore. My face was a sight with the pimples."

"I used several kinds of remedies without any results. Then I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using it I could see results so I bought more, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and four boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) W. D. A Leader IN REDUCING PASSENGER FARES
THE LOUISVILLE L & N & NASHVILLE R.R.

Has Made Further Reductions
Last April this railroad, joined by several of the progressive shorter lines in the southeastern territory, was the first major trunk line in America to materially reduce passenger fares over its entire system and to abolish the Pullman surcharge.

This action on the part of this railroad has been followed by similar action by other carriers in the north, the south, and the west, enabling through tickets to be sold at reduced fares to points in those sections.

Listed below are present fares to several destinations, typical of the low cost of L. & N. train travel now.

One-Way Fare One-Way Fare Round Trip Fare in Coaches Good in Pullmans Good in Pullmans

Cincinnati $7.21 $14.42 $19.25
Louisville 6.79 13.57 18.10
Lexington 5.90 11.80 15.75
Knoxville 2.95 5.90 7.90
St. Louis 9.40 18.78 25.05
Cleveland 16.36 23.57
Detroit 16.39 23.80
Buffalo 23.00 30.21
Pittsburgh 18.40 25.61
Indianapolis 10.98 17.76

Above round trip fares where shown are for tickets limited in most cases to 15 days; round trip tickets good in Pullman or Sleeping Cars are also on sale to many of the destinations, with longer limits, at approximately 25 per cent higher than the round trip fares shown.

Whenever Pullman cars are used the cost of space will be extra, but there is no surcharge on this road, nor on many of its connections.

It should be remembered that the L. & N. dining car service is unsurpassed both as to quality of food and fairness of price—breakfast for as little as 40c, luncheon 75c, dinner $1.25.

The L. & N. has just equipped the coaches on The Pan-American between Cincinnati and New Orleans with splendid, new type, comfortable, reclining and revolving seats, for the use of which there is no extra charge.

Ask any L. & N. passenger representative for further details and reservations.

FOREIGN DEBTORS FACE NEW THREAT

Change Seen in Attitude of Administration on Johnson Debt Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—A sharp change in sentiment toward legislation aimed at debt-defaulting nations was disclosed today by majority leader, Robinson, who said he was in sympathy with the "general purposes" of a bill by Senator Johnson, republican, California, prohibiting financial transactions with countries failing to meet financial obligations to the United States or its citizens.

Robinson, who previously had indicated a belief that the Johnson bill would endanger reciprocal trade negotiations, said today that he would offer only a few amendments to the measure. It was indicated that the purpose of the measure—to penalize debt defaulters by closing the American money market to their securities—would not be weakened.

He plans an amendment to protect American holders of bonds issued before final enactment of the bill. The measure was passed by the senate last week with only a few members in the chamber. Robinson announced on the same day he would move for reconsideration, and it appeared until today that the administration majority would defeat it. Robinson also feels that the bill must be amended to protect the administration's new monetary plans, especially those dealing with the establishment of a $2,000,000,000 equalization fund. Under present plans, the treasury would be empowered to use this money in dealings in domestic or foreign drafts, bills of exchange, bonds and notes or other securities in an effort to control the value of the dollar abroad.

BABSON LAUDS F. D. R. FOR MONEY PROGRAM

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Roger W. Babson, noted economist, in a statement here Tuesday described President Roosevelt's money program as "a very clever thing" and predicted that the president would finish his present term with a smaller national debt than the one at the time of his inauguration.

"The monetary move by the president will have no immediate effect on the man in the street," Mr. Babson said, "because the man in the street still has confidence in the money in his pocket and hence will hang on to it."

"The only way that inflation raises domestic prices is when the man in the street begins to lose faith in his money and hastens to get rid of it. Only when the man in the street loses confidence do domestic prices go up. The gold equivalent of the dollar is really secondary to the stability of the dollar, and this move of the president will stabilize the dollar and encourage the making of contracts and greatly facilitate foreign trade of all kinds."

"By hiding up the price of gold he has done a very clever thing and with the same amount of gold, with it selling at double the price, he can issue double the amount of currency and still have this theoretically measured by the price of gold as 'sound' as the currency of the past few years."

"In my opinion he will issue this additional currency and use it to pay off government debts."

"I am making a bold forecast, but it is very possible that notwithstanding recent huge expenditures, he will go before the electorate in 1936 with a smaller national debt than he inherited on March 4, 1933."

Cashier J. T. Jackson, complying with the NRA code of working hours, did not arrive until a few minutes after the robbers left without gaining access to the company safe.

ANGLO-U. S. PACT ON MONEY LOOMS

Officials of Both Nations, However, Are Silent on Currency Plans.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Reports of an informal Anglo-American agreement to maintain the dollar-pound ratio fairly steady around a mark of $5 to one pound were received in London today as a likely development of President Roosevelt's monetary declaration.

The British treasury and the Bank of England were silent as usual, but highest authorities assured the Associated Press that rumors and alarms of a currency war, emanating from some quarters of the financial district in fighting trim—it is supposed to be a written pact.

No authorities in London believe that any currency agreement has been reduced to writing nor is there likely to be a written pact. As one commentator said, however, the wish is father to the thought and with the British equalization fund in fighting trim—it is supposed to be a written pact.

The newspaper said belief such a plan was contemplated in this country followed President Roosevelt's monetary message.

Other financial authorities predicted that Japan would begin systematic purchases of gold, to be financed partially by the government's anticipated profits from the devaluation of the yen.

Theft of Emory Guinea Pigs Delays Diagnosis of Patients for Weeks

Emory University's missing guinea pigs, stolen last week from the animal room of the laboratory after being inoculated with tuberculosis and typhoid germs, are still at large unless the thief has become frightened at the publicity and destroyed them, Dr. Roy R. Kracke, who is in charge of the laboratory, said Wednesday.

In addition to subjecting the community to the possible spread of disease through contact with the animals, the thief has seriously inconvenienced diagnostic work on patients suspected of having tuberculosis, Dr. Kracke revealed.

The guinea pigs which are given injections of suspected tubercular blood were being used in the diagnosis of tuberculosis in a number of patients and their loss has caused the laboratory to start the diagnosis all over again, bringing about a delay of weeks, Dr. Kracke said.

If still alive, the guinea pigs remain capable of spreading the disease on intimate contact with human beings, as some of the animals had already shown evidences of having the disease, he said. Typhoid injections probably would not be of much danger to the public, as that disease is not common to animals, but there is great danger from the tuberculosis-infected pigs, as long as the pigs live, he said. The disease requires five or six weeks to develop in guinea pigs, he added.

Razor Blade Gives 657 Cool, Clean Shaves

A new device that sharpens old dull razor blades to an uncanny cutting edge has been perfected by Sumner Elliott, Suite 678, 2300 University Avenue, Des Moines, Iowa. How completely this new invention will revolutionize shaving habits can readily be understood, for Mr. Elliott recently succeeded in completing 657 perfect shaves with one ordinary safety razor blade and that blade is still in use. New honer stropper combination adapted to all types of blades and works equally as well on the old-fashioned straight-edge razor. Hundreds are already using it and Mr. Elliott wants dealers and agents to introduce his invention in every locality. He is willing to send a sample for your use at his own risk. Write him at the above address. (adv.)

COURT RULE NEAR ON BUILDING BONDS

Arguments Concluded. Final Day Featured by Clash of Attorneys.

Final arguments on the proposed sale of $1,000,000 of Hurt building bonds by the Atlanta bondholders' committee were concluded before Judge E. E. Pomeroy Wednesday afternoon. The court will render a decision this afternoon.

The closing hours of the hearing, which began on Monday, were featured by a heated voicing of resentment by Attorney Robert P. Jones, on behalf of the committee, of the manner in which Herbert Haas, representing opposing bondholders, has conducted the case.

Stating that the committee had throughout the negotiations acted only with the interests of the bondholders in mind, Jones said that he wished to go on record as resenting the "scurrilous insinuations of fraud, treachery and conspiracy" made by Haas. Jones said that the bondholders' committee had had its negotiations for the proposed sale of the bonds at 55 cents on the dollar with the Tenir Corporation, proposed purchaser, and did not know anything of the corporation's contracts with other parties.

Haas in his argument stated that it was "Lynch all the way through" in referring to the negotiations leading up to the proposal to sell. S. A. Lynch, according to testimony at the hearing, holds stock of Enterprise Realty & Investment Company, which in turn controls the stock of the Tenir Corporation, nominee of the First National Bank of Atlanta. Refutation of the charges of attorneys opposing the sale that the Hurt interests will profit by the sale was made in a deposition taken at the home of C. E. Holcomb, Holcomb deposing that if the sale goes through the building would be manager of the building upon a basis of satisfactory service only.

Jones in his argument expressed confidence in the fairness of the market value of the Hurt building property as placed at $2,000,000 and $2,500,000 by expert witnesses in the hearing.

A complete tabulation submitted by Marion Smith, counsel for the receivers of the building, showed that holders of $289,700 in bonds had voted for the proposed sale, with $71,600 voting against the sale. Judge Pomeroy's decision on the $1,000,000 sale also will affect the sale in New York of another $2,000,000 worth of the bonds, Judge Julian W. Mack in federal court having made his recent decision in favor of the proposed sale by the New York committee dependent upon the result of the decision to be rendered by the Fulton superior court.

WOMEN DEMOCRATS HEAR HUGH HOWELL RAP NON-VOTERS

Hugh Howell, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, spoke to the Fulton County Woman's Democratic Club at its first meeting of the year Wednesday afternoon on the significance of organized voting and the need of a tax moratorium in rural parts of the state. Mr. Howell said he had been "preaching" for several months to P. T. A.'s and other organizations throughout Georgia stressing the necessity of "a well defined electorate to pledge a candidate before the interest is closed." He admitted his "disgust" with complaining citizens who criticized the government but refused to vote themselves, illustrating the importance of a single vote by citing some famous one-vote victories, including the admittance of Texas and California to the Union.

GLOVER ORDERED BONFIRE, SAYS AID

Assistant Postmaster General Had Files Destroyed, Witness Declares.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—New testimony of the destruction of records by retiring postoffice officials in the Hoover administration was placed before the senate air mail investigation today.

R. L. John, who worked in the office of former Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover, testified that he ordered destruction of records at Glover's command in January and February of last year, Glover, he said, telephoned him last Sunday and told him the destroyed files were personal and confidential.

"And you know it," John said Glover told him.

The Glover call came after a witness testified last week that he had destroyed files of former Postmaster General Walter Brown. Glover was assistant in charge of air mail under Brown.

Chairman Black, of the committee, pressed John for an admission that Glover's telephone call had amounted to "instructions" as to what to tell the investigators. Republican committee members objected and Black decided to call Glover himself as a witness later.

John said the destroyed records included advertising matter and letters dealing with stamp collecting, and said that if any official records were included they were unimportant and got in by accident. It was brought out, however, that the indices of the filing cabinets from which the records were taken related to airmail contracts, and J. J. Doran, postal inspector, said airmail records were missing.

The matter destroyed came from two filing cabinets and filled four large mail sacks.

Destruction of official records is illegal, but a retiring official has the right to destroy or remove personal records.

Guardian Probe Bares Officers' Obligations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Evidence that officers and directors of the Union Guardian Trust Company, of Detroit, owed the bank more than $2,500,000 before the Michigan bank holiday was given today to the senate banking committee.

During questioning of Clifford B. Longley, president of the institution before it was closed, Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, placed in the record exhibits showing the state banking examiner's estimates of most of the officials' loans were classified as "slow" and that only a small amount has been liquidated.

An aggregate of $2,477,040 represented direct liabilities, and $136,010 was the amount which officers and directors had endorsed or guaranteed.

MRS. LEILA C. BAILEY DIES AT WHITE PLAINS

Mrs. Leila Carlton Bailey, 31, former Atlantan, who was injured in an automobile accident Saturday night near New York city, died early on Wednesday morning at a White Plains (N. Y.) hospital without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Bailey was the wife of R. A. Bailey, formerly of New York, who recently entered business in Griffin, Ga., and she had planned to join him there soon. She was the daughter of Mrs. J. E. Carlton, of Decatur, and was a sister of J. T. Carlton, member of the editorial staff of the Georgian, and J. E. Carlton, of Decatur. The former Atlanta woman was injured when the car in which she was riding with two men skidded on slick pavement while en route from New York to Danbury, Conn., and crashed into a tree. She was paralyzed. Her husband and brother, J. E., flew to New York and were with her when she died.

Technical charges of homicide were to be preferred against Joseph O'Brien of Danbury, and Joseph Lyman, of the Bronx, in order to determine who was driving the car when the accident occurred, according to Medical Examiner A. O. Squire, of White Plains.

Mrs. Bailey was widely known as a radio singer in Atlanta before she removed with her husband to New York 10 years ago.

The body will be brought to Atlanta this afternoon at 4 o'clock and funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Good Hope Christian church, near Monroe, Ga. The Rev. Robert H. Lambkin will officiate and interment will be in the churchyard. The funeral cortege will leave the residence of her sister, Mrs. G. C. Brooks, at 129 Warren street, at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, with A. S. Turner in charge.

She also is survived by seven sisters, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. E. O. Thompson, of Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. W. B. Stovall, of Sanford, Fla.; Mrs. J. P. Blasingame, and Mrs. D. M. Bowden, of McDonough; Mrs. W. J. Parr, of Conyers, and Mrs. J. T. Pannell, of Monroe.

Georgia Delegation To Seek Aid of PWA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The Georgia house delegation will confer with Public Works Administrator Ickes tomorrow morning at 10:45 a. m. for the purpose of discussing pending PWA projects in the state, it was announced here today.

Representative Carl Vinson, dean of the delegation, said that special emphasis will be placed on the application of Chairman E. E. Lindsey, of the state board of control, for a loan and grant of $5,000,000 to improve eleemosynary institutions throughout Georgia.

Administrator Ickes has expressed a willingness to be of every assistance to Georgia in circumventing the state's constitutional provision limiting its borrowing power, by every legal means so that the state may get the full benefit of its quota of public works projects.

Representative Robert Ramepek, of Decatur, who is particularly interested in the Atlanta area, said that he had always found the public works administrator ever willing to co-operate with him in every request he had made of the PWA administration, and that he was reasonably confident that Georgia would be accorded every possible consideration.

HENRY PU-YI TO ASK U. S. RECOGNITION FOR MANCHUKUO

HSINKING (Changchun), Jan. 17.—(UP)—A frank bid for friendship and recognition by the United States for the new Manchukuoan empire to be created next March was uttered today by Henry Pu-yi in his first interview since becoming emperor-designate.

Speaking freely and confidently, the former boy emperor of China, confided his hopes and plans for his Manchurian reign, and outlined the broad basis of a foreign policy.

"During my reign," said Pu-yi, "I hope, with Heavenly guidance, to emulate the great Chinese emperors of the Golden Chow dynasty.

"My policy will be peace and security, international amity and the observance of all foreign obligations. I will keep open the door of commerce to all nations.

"Whether Washington recognizes Manchukuo or not, Americans will always be welcome in Manchuria. I have many American friends who I like to believe form a bond of amity between the two countries.

"Whatever our political differences, I am sure that the Manchurian empire and America can work together for the preservation of peace which is fully as precious to us in the orient as it is to America."

Six-Pound Girl Is Born In Speeding Ambulance

A six-pound baby girl was born to Mrs. G. H. Tribble, of 905 South Main street, East Point, Wednesday afternoon in a speeding ambulance en route to Grady hospital.

Charles Hemperley, of A. C. Hemperley & Sons, received the ambulance call at about 1:30 o'clock the afternoon and the child was born just as the machine entered Atlanta. Despite the novel experience of being born in a conveyance traveling at a rapid rate of speed, the little girl, as well as her mother, was reported doing well Wednesday night at the hospital.

Mayor Walmsley Challenges Huey To Fist Fight on Election Day

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Senator Huey P. Long, repulsed on all sides in a war with the New Orleans city political ring, was challenged by Mayor T. S. Walmsley today to a fist fight in the street on election day, January 23.

"And if Huey doesn't take back every word he said about me, I'll follow him to Washington and cram those words down his cowardly throat," said the six-foot mayor, who back in 1911 was captain of Tulane University's football team.

The warfare between Long's state administration and the city ring, stirred up by the municipal election campaign, reached torrid heat tonight. Reports were circulated that Long was planning to call out "the national guard," but Long denied it.

"That's a damned lie, started by Walmsley," Long replied. "He is trying to stir things up even worse by claiming that I will antagonize the citizens with troops at a time like this. I have no intention of doing such a thing."

Walmsley said he was prepared for trouble, and was ready to "swear in 10,000 citizens with shotguns, if it becomes necessary."

I dare Senator Long to come out of his hotel room and fight me," the mayor told 500 men at a luncheon club meeting. "I just want to meet him as man to man."

The elevator to the room of Huey Long was a melancholy day for Louisiana. It does not serve our purpose to have our state and city advertised as a cesspool of iniquity and debauchery."

The city forces added a bizarre touch to the tumult tonight by taking the records they seized from the registrar of voters' office, a state unit, and locking them up in a cell in death row at the parish prison.

Long's forces were twice baffled in the courts again today. The state attorney-general went into criminal district court here and asked for permission to supersede District Attorney Eugene Stanley of New Orleans. Stanley has started an investigation of alleged state pay roll padding. Judge Frank Echebal denied the state's motion.

The state then attempted to launch a sweeping investigation into city affairs, and Judge Echebal denied this motion. James O'Connor, assistant attorney-general, filed the state's motions, which would have investigated "police relations with the underworld; financial transactions of the mayor and other city officials; alleged licensed gambling and prostitution," and other affairs.

BILL ON PHILIPPINES WILL NOT BE EXTENDED

Independence in Three Years
With Trade Preference
Asked by Islanders.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The administration will make no effort to extend the life of the Hawes-Cutting Philippine independence bill, which expires today, but it will hold the opinion that this legislation always can be revived.

Independence for the Philippines within two or three years, providing the United States grants a 10-year period of preferential trade relations after independence, was proposed by the Quezon independence delegation today to President Roosevelt.

As an alternative the mission, headed by Manuel L. Quezon, president of the senate, proposed a flat grant of independence on July 4, 1940, with present trade relations between the two countries to continue until that time.

This was the written report which had been requested by President Roosevelt.

In the alternative proposal, the mission suggested establishment of a more autonomous government during the six-year period in order to prepare the islands for self-government.

Walmesley said he was prepared for trouble, and was ready to "swear in 10,000 citizens with shotguns, if it becomes necessary."

I dare Senator Long to come out of his hotel room and fight me," the mayor told 500 men at a luncheon club meeting. "I just want to meet him as man to man."

PAVING OF HIGHWAY URGED BY DELEGATION

Naming of Atlanta-Forsyth
Route for Governor Talmadge Is Requested.

A committee of businessmen from Fulton, Clayton, Henry, Butts and Monroe counties appeared before the state highway board Wednesday urging the completion of the paving of the highway between Atlanta and Forsyth, connecting there with the paved highway between Atlanta and Macon via Griffin and Barnesville, so that a new direct highway to Macon may be established, relieving the heavy congestion on the Griffin, Barnesville route.

The committee asked that this highway be named the Talmadge highway in honor of Governor Talmadge who is a native of Monroe county.

Considerably more than half of the highway between Atlanta and Forsyth via McDonough, Jackson and Indian Springs has already been paved, or is now in process of paving.

Contract To Be Let.

That part of the highway between Atlanta and the DeKalb county line is paved. The other four miles in DeKalb county is unpaved and ungraded. Contract for the paving of the two miles of the unpaved part in Clayton county is to be let within the next two weeks, leaving four miles in Clayton county to be paved. The highway is entirely paved, or is being paved, through Henry county to the Jackson county line, leaving about five miles in Butts county to reach Jackson, from which point the highway is already paved to Indian Springs, leaving about 12 miles through Butts and Monroe counties to reach Forsyth.

The committee urged the completion of this paving as soon as possible, stating that it offers a new route between Macon and Atlanta of about the same length as the Griffin and Barnesville route. Chairman Wilburn, of the state highway board, assured the committee that the purpose of the board was to connect as soon as possible the unpaved portions of all through highways and extended the assurance that the board would give careful consideration to the suggestion of completing this route, stating that already parts of it now unpaved were in process of being paved, or would be in early contract lettings of the board. The chairman stated that he and the other members of the board recognized the importance of completing this highway and were favorable to the suggestion that it be named in honor of Governor Talmadge who is a native of one of the counties through which this highway passes.

The committee left much pleased with its impression of the board's favorable attitude.

Petition Is Presented.

The formal petition left with the board is as follows:

We, the undersigned citizens of Clayton and Henry counties, do hereby request the esteemed board of state highway commissioners, in honor to our governor, who was reared at Forsyth, Georgia, and in honor to his family, that the state highway running from Atlanta to Forsyth, and known as "highway 42" be named "Talmadge Highway."

Those signing the petition are S. C. McWilliams, of Henry county, chairman; Claude A. Smith, of DeKalb county; A. P. Born, C. W. Powell, S. G. Reeves, H. Grady Moore, and C. C. Adamson, of Clayton; W. E. Barr, of Henry; and James G. Hale, of Atlanta.

Hutcheson To Hear
Sutton Plea Today

Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, today will hear arguments on the injunction petition of Dr. J. M. Sutton, state veterinarian, against Commissioner of Agriculture G. C. Adams and other officials whom Dr. Sutton charges are attempting to interfere with his performance of his duties. The hearing will be held in the DeKalb courthouse at Decatur.

Dr. Sutton was dropped from the pay roll by Commissioner Adams on January 1. He elected to carry on his duties without pay but was removed from his office. Governor Talmadge then stepped in and citing the reorganization act of 1931 assumed control of the situation and directed Mr. Adams to operate the veterinary division.

Commissioner Adams, citing the same authority taken by the governor, has asked that the injunction petition of Dr. Sutton be denied.

On the eve of the hearing, Dr. Sutton Wednesday issued a new statement, attacking the governor and charging that he had interested himself in veterinary affairs for political reasons.

BURGLARS ARE BUSY, RAID STORES, HOMES

Burglars who broke into the Tarbo Soda Company, 210 Whitehall street, early Wednesday morning, escaped with $30 in cash and a quantity of cigarettes, according to police reports. Oil and gasoline were stolen from the Gulf filling station at Pryor and Bass streets, and several bundles of overalls were stolen from a truck of the Atlanta Overall Laundry parked on Ivy, near Houston.

The Standard Oil station at Butler and Edgewood was entered by breaking a glass, but the intruder was scared away, and likewise an attempt to enter the Peoples Street Lunchroom, at 635 Peoples street, was averted when a burglar was frightened away after breaking a window.

Mrs. R. D. McDowell, of 774 West Peachtree, awakened by the presence in her room of a burglar, screamed and frightened the man away, but not before he obtained $110 in cash, police were told.

F. CARTER BUTLER DIES AT GREENVILLE HOME

F. Carter Butler, formerly of Atlanta, died Wednesday morning in Greenville, S. C., where he had resided for the last several years since retiring as an auditor of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company. Funeral services and interment will be held in Greenville today.

Mr. Butler is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. James B. Meehan, of Atlanta; three sons, Rutledge P. and C. Claude Butler, of Atlanta, and Bert H. Butler, of New York city. BREAK O' DAY!

Pearl Hunting Becomes One of Atlanta's Favorite Indoor Sports

Oysters are being consumed in Atlanta at a tremendous rate.

I mean the kind that are shucked before the eye and placed on the platter with the necessary condiments. It's the leading indoor sport—playing them off the half shell.

No longer is it necessary to dream about going to the south seas on an expedition seeking pearls. Try it at the noon hour at your favorite oyster bar. Take home a box of oysters and let the little woman and the kiddies in on the fun. Enjoy the thrills of pearl hunting in your own home.

A couple of pearls have been found in the oysters served in Atlanta this week. It so happens that both were found in the same eating place.

Only a select few know the identity of this spot. Two pearls have been found there this week. One was a small one. The other, the size of a black-eyed pea, was found by one of the young-men-about-town, Mr. Owen M. Conrad, one-time member of the Vanderbilt swimming team.

He almost broke off a molar on the bivalve. And there it was—a pearl.

Since that time Mr. Conrad has eaten his way through four barrels of oysters. But has had no luck. Nevertheless, the word has got around.

"There's pearls in them there shells."

The ironical thing about all this is that Mr. Conrad began eating oysters only this winter.

For years, like any other graduate, he thought the world was his oyster.

This winter he sadly began eating oysters from Bayou Cook and from Long Island and Baltimore.

This is particularly disheartening to an old oyster eater of long standing. This faithful scrivener has eaten oysters for years and years and years. And always with the hope that in the next shell would be the perfect pearl. And some days hoping that an oyster would be found in the oyster stew.

And no luck. And now a young fellow, a veritable neophyte in the art of eating them off the shell, finds a pearl. But still, there is always the next oyster.

A dozen on the half shell, garcon, and make it snappy.

THE YALES AND COMMERCIALISM.

"The Yales," said the football coach, who was passing through our city, "amuse me no little."

"How come?" asked the reporter, who read Frank Merriwell when a youth and ever since has been one of the original Yale men. (Synthetic.)

"Their chief advisers do not want a midwestern coach," said the football man, "because it will smack of commercialism if they import a coach and try to win games."

"Have you ever tried to crash the Yale bowl without a ticket?" asked the coach.

"Why do they want a new coach?"

Before the reporter could answer, he went right ahead and answered his own question.

"It's because their team didn't fill the seats in the bowl last fall," he said. "That's why. They want to get a coach who will cause people to spend money to buy tickets and sit in the bowl on Saturday afternoons to watch the Yales play. But they don't want anything that smacks of commercialism."

"It seems to me the Yales don't know what they want. They want a commercial result without the appearance of commercialism. Well," he said, "I've got to catch this train. I hope the alumni haven't got busy while I'm gone. I know why they hired me. They want a winner. And they want the winner to fill the benches in their bowl."

"Because, boy, listen. If they don't fill those football bowls then a lot of people—coaches, athletic directors, faculty chairmen and the like—don't get their soup bowls filled. I'll be seeing you. But don't get too commercial."

MR. W. A. A., THE P. W. A. AND THE C. V. A.

I found Mr. William A. Alexander busy yesterday, supervising the work of the P. W. A. and the C. V. A. at Georgia Tech.

Grant field is all staked out like a flower garden.

Trucks are piling up loam which will be spread over the field to a depth of four inches. New turf will be placed on this.

Big stacks of drain pipe are waiting to be placed in the field. This will make the water drain off next fall, and in succeeding falls.

Mr. Alexander will begin his spring football practice on February 5.

An effort was made to draw from Mr. Alexander some idea as to his football plans. The delights of seeing one's name in big 36-point caslon type was held forth to him.

"No," he said firmly, "he will continue to play the sort of football the late Percy Haughton said he had at Harvard—barnyard football."

"What kind is that?" asked the reporter.

"The sort any animal can play," said Mr. Alexander.

HARRY ROBERTSON AT SYRACUSE.

Coach Alexander did say, however, that he had learned Harry Robertson, former Oglethorpe coach, was assured of the line coaching job at Syracuse next fall.

Robertson was All-American center at Syracuse in 1919. His teams at Oglethorpe were always well coached. His lines were unusually good ones and attracted favorable attention in the east.

Robertson should do a great job for Syracuse. He is an able coach and he will take a lot of new enthusiasm with him into the new job.

THE OGLETHORPE SET-UP.

The Oglethorpe set-up, which will be officially confirmed within a few days, seems to me to be a wise one, such as would be expected from Dr. Thornwell Jacobs.

The choice of a young alumnus with a definite ability for teaching and inspiring loyalty means much. This happy combination was found in John Patrick. His assistant, Andy Morrow, works into the combination unusually well.

The men at Oglethorpe are young. It would not be surprising if they were to leap in behind this new set-up and carry it and themselves along to a great record in the fall of 1934. Youthful enthusiasm can do much, especially if it is backed by ability such as the Oglethorpe choice possesses.

IOWA UNDEFEATED.

The University of Iowa's win over Wisconsin rounded out a full calendar year in which the Hawkeye basketball team were not defeated on their home court, meanwhile registering 11 successive wins there.

YALE TRIUMPHS.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Yale defeated Williams, 46-25, in a basketball game tonight. Williams was trailing 21-7 at the end of the first half, but made a better showing in the second session.

CUBS MUST WIN OR PILOT GRIMM SURE TO LOSE

Tells Owner What He Wants; Gets It; Now Must Produce.

By George Kirksey,

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Unless the Chicago Cubs win the National league pennant next season, Manager Charlie Grimm is going to find himself in a very tough spot indeed.

"We've got to win the pennant," Grimm confessed today, when he appeared at the Cubs' office for an interview with the club's new president, William M. Walker.

"You see, at the end of last season Mr. Walker asked me what players I wanted to obtain for the 1934 season. I told him and he went out and got them. After the major league meeting here in December he asked me if I was satisfied with the club as it stood and I told him I was not."

"So it's now up to me to win the pennant. I take the blame for our failure to win last year. We didn't have quite enough hustle. But this year I am going to demand that every player hustle for all he's worth at home and on the road. Any player who fails to hustle will soon find himself on the bench."

Grimm expects the addition of Chuck Klein to give the Cubs the punch they lacked last year. Klein will bat in No. 3 position, the same spot he occupied with the Phillies, Grimm said.

Comebacks are expected from the two Hermanns, Babe and Billy, by Grimm.

"Billy Hermann got off to a bad start last season and he worried about it too much," said Grimm. "There's no doubt that he's a great second baseman and I believe he'll prove it this season. I expect the lively ball to give Babe Herman added confidence, and that'll regain his batting eye."

Grimm said he believed the lively ball would help the Cubs' pitching staff, especially Pat Malone, since the raised seam will enable him to get more grip on the ball and consequently increase his speed. Grimm pointed out that he didn't believe Guy Bush's screw ball or Bud Tinning's curve ball would be hampered by the new ball.

BUSH FEELS GOOD.

Bush, who signed his contract yesterday, said he expected to win 25 games the coming season because of the addition of Klein. Bush won 20 games last year.

Play 'Noogans Early Next Month for Dixie Title

Manager Oscar Brock lost the toss deciding the site of the opening games of the southern independent basketball championship series, but definite dates were decided upon in a meeting at Chattanooga yesterday. The "Y" Triangles, southern champions, will defend the title they won last year in a 3-out-of-5-game series, starting with two games at Chattanooga February 9 and 10. The V-Eight five, of Chattanooga, then will come here for a third game February 12.

No provision has been made for the other two games because, as Manager Brock says, "The Triangles will win the first three." Members of the crack Atlanta team include, left to right, Joe McCrory, guard; Johnny Phillips, forward; Bill Strickland, center; Bill Underwood, forward; Oscar Brock, forward, and Tommy Reeder, guard. At his last showing here, two weeks ago, Dynamite Dunn won a knockout victory over Kid Osteen in the third round.

On the semi-fundup Young Ketchel, popular welterweight and victor over Battling Maddox last week, will meet Gene Black, of Cincinnati.

Two preliminaries and a battle roy- al will complete the card.

Corsets in Baseball? Sure! Ask Zinn Beck

Lookout Manager Put One On an Outfielder and Sold Him to Memphis.

By Jimmy Jones.

The word comes from Chattanooga that Zinn Beck, the old player peddler of the Piedmont region, is going to be assigned a lot of young prospects to be developed for the Washington ball club next summer.

That should suit Zinn just fine, for if there is one thing that he enjoys and can do, it is developing young ball players. And Joe Engel says he will take 60 players to camp this year.

It is further stated that Clark Griffith, the Washington owner, who is frugal to a fault, brought the old ax of economy into play, taking Zinn Beck off the scouting pay roll to replace Bert Niehoff as manager and turning over all the scouting duties to President Joe Engel.

Personally, we always thought a lot of Bert Niehoff and in view of his good record at Chattanooga in the three years he was there, economy seems to be the only fair reason for replacing him at the helm.

At any rate, Zinn Beck is a good man to replace Bert with, since he is as crafty as a fox on the diamond and is an uncanny judge of player talent.

THE CORSET WORKS.

There is a story that is told on Zinn Beck's part in the development of a rare subterfuge at Greenville in the Sally league in peddling an outfielder to a big league scout.

This particular outfielder was a scout who was going to be in the stands. So what does he do but send the business manager out in town to purchase a ladies corset—the old-fashioned, binding kind.

GEORGIA PROMISED MILK PACT ACTION

Wallace Says Agreement Will Be Put Into Effect Within Three Weeks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Calling in a body upon Secretary Wallace, Georgia members of the house today were promised a milk marketing agreement would be put into effect in the state within three weeks.

Wallace told the delegation the proposed agreement for Georgia milk sheds which has been before the farm administration for several months was being revised to comply with the new milk policy which places emphasis on producer prices and a national production control plan.

Georgia has presented a perplexing problem, Wallace explained, because of the extensive operations of producers who sell their milk direct to consumers.

After leaving Wallace's office the delegation called on other farm administration officials to discuss the removal of cotton from bonded warehouses in small towns of Georgia to cities in the state where storage and insurance were cheaper.

Members of the delegation who represent rural sections have received numerous protests against the moving of government cotton held by farmers under option from small town warehouses and its concentration in cities.

The delegation will call tomorrow upon Secretary Ickes to ask approval of public works allotments for new buildings at state eleemosynary institutions.

E. B. Lindsey, of the Georgia board of control, was in Washington today working for PWA and CWA funds for state institutions. He will accompany the delegation on its visit to Secretary Ickes tomorrow.

Democrats of County Name Chairman Today

Selection of a successor to the late Albert Howell, for many years chairman of the Fulton county democratic executive committee, and setting of a time for holding the primary for nomination of three county commissioners will be principal matters confronting the meeting of that body slated for 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the courthouse.

Terms of Commissioners Walter C. Hendrix, Paul S. Etheridge and Dr. William L. Gilbert expire, beginning January, 1934. Among others mentioned recently as probable contenders in addition to a large field already rumored are former Commissioner Walter B. Stewart and John Paul Jones, president of the Georgia-Carolina Oil Company.

George L. Bell Jr., vice chairman of the committee, was being sponsored for the chairmanship Wednesday by a large group of his friends.

J. H. FOSTER IS HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Raiding the place on alleged evidence that liquor was being sold by the drink, DeKalb county policemen Wednesday arrested J. H. Foster, brother of ex-Councilman Homer C. Foster, at the defendant's home, 275 Mayson avenue.

J. H. Foster was held in DeKalb county jail in $500 bond on charges of possessing and selling liquor. Officers said that they confiscated a gallon and a half of whisky and some glasses. Officers participating in the raid were A. H. Smith, O. L. White, C. W. Nunn and A. L. Hutchins.

ORCHESTRA TO OFFER CHILDREN'S MATINEE

The children's matinee of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, which will give two concerts here February 2, is expected to be of as much interest to adults as to children, sponsors of the orchestra's appearance announced Wednesday. Paul Lemay will conduct the symphony group in the performance which begins at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The program will include Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," the overture to "Hansel and Gretel," two movements of Haydn's "Surprise Symphony," "The Ride of the Valkyries" by Wagner; two Indian melodies by Skilton; Ludwig's "Music Box" and the "Marche Slav" by Tchaikovsky.

GEN. MOSELEY SEEKS OFFICES IN NEW P. O.

Major General George Van Horn Moseley announced Wednesday that he would recommend to the war department that the offices of the fourth army corps area be removed from Fort McPherson to the old postoffice building as soon as the offices on the top floor of the building are moved to the new postoffice and federal building.

General Moseley, who last week assumed command of the army area, inspected the old postoffice building Wednesday and said he found them highly suitable for the army offices.

BLOOD MONEY

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Uncle Cressap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cressap's house on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island, Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cressap's stepbrother, keeps a written, private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cressap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Captain Bray, a special investigator, and an old friend of Redd's, helps the men from the district attorney's office in solving the crime. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dams, Cressap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Cressap's in order to protect Florence. Cressap made his fortune in the far west. Redd freely admits to having a home near Cressap's. The Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabine, are the most important of the servants, and there seemed to be some secret bond between them and their employer. Bray calls the members of the household together for questioning. He has found, spread out on Cressap's desk, a new signed of Florence's unswerving sweet heart, Gregory Thorpe, who had arrived the day before, having driven east from his home in Ohio in response to an urgent wire from Florence. Thorpe can't be reached at the local hotel where he registered. George Thomas, NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

"O, that! I didn't dare tell Captain Bray before. What with everything else, it did seem so—well, suspicious. Early last Sunday when poor Greg was starting east, he suddenly remembered he didn't have any driver's license. His had expired. He borrowed a license from a young fellow named George Thomas, who works in a garage where Greg used to keep his car when he was pursuing enough to own a car. And Greg thought it would be better in case of any mixup if he just called himself George Thomas. Looking back, it does sound stupid, doesn't it? But that's the truth."

"Being heels-over head in love should excuse any boy for doing an occasional stupid thing," I declared. "I'll say this, if I might make so bold," put in Bray. "Being in love sure puts a grand light in a certain pair of lovely blue eyes."

I stood there in the rain until the car was out of sight and then I climbed in my own car and rode home to bring this record up to date. And now it's dawn—morning—or will be as soon as I've called up that hospital on the outskirts of Flushing. I told Florence I'd be calling her up between 7:30 and 8.

Still Friday, but later.

Getting Florence on the telephone tonight I had the delay one usually has when trying to establish communication with any transient in any hospital. I succeeded.

"O Uncle Gil," she told me joyously: "O Uncle Gil, he's splendid! He's wearing a great turban of cotton batting, but it's really quite becoming. And he has had a shave—so his cheek is as smooth as can be! And they put a screen around his bed and let me sit with him for more than an hour. And when I told him what all had happened at Bridgeton, even then his temperature didn't go up. And I'm to have a room for tonight and tomorrow right here in the hospital—his nurse fixed that. Her name is Miss Carmody and she's a dear."

"So everything is grand except just one thing: Uncle Gil, would you believe it?—I've just proposed matrimony to a young man—and I've been declined. I feel like a spurned damsel or at least I would feel like one girls nowadays hadn't got out of the habit of feeling like damsels. What I said to him was this: 'I said we'd both gone through so much lately that I thought it was high time we got married so that hereafter we could face what came together instead of having to face it separately. So why not let us wait—say, until tomorrow or possibly until day after tomorrow, but not a minute longer than that after tomorrow, and then just send out for a preacher and have the ceremony performed right here in this hospital, with Miss Carmody as the attendant and you here to give the bride away. I told him my Uncle Gil would approve and it didn't matter about anybody else."

"Your Uncle Gil does approve," I affirmed. "It sounds to me like a sound notion. Then what's wrong with that besotted young ass that he doesn't jump at his chance?"

"That's practically what I've already called him—in slightly different words. I've argued with him and argued with him. But he's so stupid about it—stupid and so stubborn. I could shake him! He says that even when I didn't have a cent of my own but was dependent upon some one else for the clothes I wore and the food I ate, he had his mind made up, even though we talked about eloping, that he'd never, never marry me until he was able to support me properly. And he said that if I wouldn't wait, that it's going to break his heart and wreck his life, but that all the same he values his self-respect more than he does his happiness. And the way he sets his jaws when he says that makes me know he means it! O I could slap those jaws and I would if only he were able to defend himself. And if he were a little weaker than he is, I'd abduct him and marry him against his will. But what are you going to do, Uncle Gil, when your victim is just in between?"

"I'll tell you," I consoled: "suppose you wait a little while until he gets his strength back—yes, and his sanity back, since he must be mad to refuse to alter his conditions. Understand, I may admire his principles even while I deplore his lack of judgment. And wait until I have an opportunity to discuss the situation with him. Possibly I can make him see it in a different light."

"You can if anybody can," she said proudly. "All these last six years you've been my sword and my shield, Uncle Gil, and I'm still leaning on you."

The half tragic, half humorous caroling lilt ebbed out of her voice and concern came into it.

"I'm a selfish little pig! So absorbed in my own affairs I was forgetting everything else. Uncle Gil, down there at Bridgeton, is—every thing all right?"

"Absolutely."

"You're positive? You're not trying to save me from worrying?"

"On my sacred word, child, everything is as right as rain—and if you'll press your ear closer to that telephone you can hear it rain! Now you trot along back to see Gregory and I'll call you again in the morning. Or you call me."

"Good-night, then, and here's all my love and all my gratitude and a big fat kiss."

REGISTRATION IN CITY BY PRECINCTS URGED

Precinct registration for future primaries was urged Wednesday night by the newly-elected city democratic executive committee as it swung into action for the new year.

Approving a suggestion of Seab Fifth ward committeeman, that the committee request J. Henson Tatum, registrar, to prepare precinct registrations, and permit registrants to designate in which of the precincts they wished to vote, the committee empowered James T. Ozburn to name a special committee to obtain action.

Under the proposal, those registering would designate their preference of precincts in the ward in which they live, contrary to past custom, no name would appear on more than one precinct list in the city.

Such an arrangement would prevent duplicate voting and remove much confusion, according to the committee.

Among major rules approved by the committee Wednesday were the following:

1. Closing of registration lists 60 days before the date of the primary in order to allow ample time to purge lists.

2. Allowing all persons who are at the precinct by 7 p. m., on the night of the primary to cast their votes but to bar those who arrive later.

3. Barring of relatives of any candidate from serving as managers or clerks.

4. An effort to pass a resolution asking the Georgia assembly to amend election laws so as to eliminate ballot numbering in order to make the system more secret, failed because precinct voting has not yet been instituted. When that is done, and the danger of duplication thus obviated, it appeared to be the sense of the committee that it would approve removal of numbers from ballots.

Ozburn named Press Winburn, Charles Walker and A. L. Belle Isle as a committee to aid him in securing the precinct registration for the 1934 municipal primary.

5 Subsistence Colonies Planned for Mississippi

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes announced today plans for establishment of a subsistence homestead community of 25 homesteads each in five counties in Mississippi, designed to demonstrate possibilities of this type of development in rural areas throughout that region. The projects will be located at Meridian, Hattiesburg, Laurel, McComb and Tupelo. The plan for the spreading of the homesteads was adopted rather than the placing of 125 homesteads at any one point.

Local corporations will be established for each development and will obtain a loan from the federal subsistence homesteads corporation and in turn make loans of homesteaders repayable over a 20-year period.
